

Fleeing from Persecution

Caught in the Covfefe

Safe Haven

POLLY A WEBBER was an Immigration Judge in San Francisco from 1995-2016. She practiced immigration law from 1977-1995 before becoming a judge. An officer in the American Immigration Lawyers Assn for many years, Judge Webber was National President in 1989-90.

Over her last 10 years on the bench and in retirement, she is a fiber artist, mainly in rug hooking and yarn arts. For her these activities are forms of meditation that have been an important counterbalance to the pressures and intense focus of being an Immigration Judge. ©Polly A. Webber All Rights Reserved
